INVESTIGATION OF 2 COVID-19 CASES IN TULLOW GHANA FACILITIES; PRODUCTION UNAFFECTED

Tullow Ghana reports that on 21 May, two subcontractors working in the field displayed suspected COVID-19 symptoms and were medically evacuated to a government-approved quarantine facility and tested. Ghana Health Service (GHS) has confirmed initial test results as positive for the COVID-19 virus. The affected individuals are in good health but remain in isolation onshore and will continue to be monitored and tested.

Following the positive test results, a team from GHS has commenced contact tracing and testing of personnel on the KNK FPSO and MV Lancelot, in line with established protocols.

Tullow wishes to assure all stakeholders that the health and safety of our staff, contractors, sub-contractors and our host communities remain our priority. Tullow has followed strict quarantine procedures for all personnel working offshore including two weeks of government-approved quarantine. We will be assessing further actions that may be available to reduce the risk of infection.

Tullow Ghana reiterates its commitment to the WHO and GHS safety protocols and procedures to limit the risk of spreading Covid-19.

Oil and gas production on board the Jubilee FPSO is unaffected. Also, no cases of COVID-19 have been identified on the TEN FPSO.
