FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PUBLIC HEALTH ALERT: FDA CAUTIONS PUBLIC ON CONTAMINATED PET FOODS

The Food and Drugs Authority (FDA) wishes to inform the general public about the recall of various brands of Pet Foods manufactured by Midwestern Pet Foods, Indiana, in the United States of America.

This recall is due to the presence of high aflatoxin contamination which has caused the death of seventy (70) dogs and other illnesses in another eighty (80).

The Pet Foods being recalled have the following information on the packaging:

- Expiry dates on or before 9th July, 2022 with facility number 05 found at the end of the Date Code i.e., EXP:03/03/05 or 03 Mar/22/05
- Registration OK-PFO-0005
- Batch Numbers:17/10/21/05/L3 and 12/11/21/05/L2

The Pet food variants contaminated by the aflatoxin are as follows:

- Pro Pac Originals
- Sportmix
- Splash Pet food
- Sportstrail Pet Food
- Nunn Better Dry Dog and Cat Foods

In view of the above, those who are in possession of these Pet foods are being directed to return the products to the importer, place of purchase or any of the FDA offices across the country. The FDA is on a high alert market surveillance to ensure that the rest of these contaminated products are removed from the market.

Meanwhile, the importer, Doggie Dog World Enterprise has been directed to recall the products from the Ghanaian market.

The FDA wants to assure the general that, it remains committed to safeguarding public health and safety of consumers as mandated by the Public Health Act, 2012, Act 851.
